And today's financial tip:

What is the difference between a primary market and a secondary market?

The primary market is the market where securities are sold for the first time. A company or government who is referred to as the issuer sells these securities. On the secondary market, investors buy and sell securities that have already been issued. For example, a company issuing shares for the first time (also known as going public) would do so in the primary market. Subsequently, shareholders can buy and sell those securities on the secondary market.
