And today's financial tip:

What is a special dividend Payment?

A special dividend payment is an extra ordinary dividend paid to shareholders. Special dividend payments are not made as part of the normal dividend payments schedule during a financial year. For example, TDC usually pays an interim and a final dividend to its shareholders on record at a specified date. If after making such payments and clearing all outstanding debts for the year, and monies are still available, the company may decide to make a special dividend payment to its' shareholders.
